

UNPAN-AP Editorial Department Observes 8th International Anti-corruption Day: A List of Useful Documents

The International Anti-corruption Day has been observed annually on the 9th December, since the passage of the United Nations Convention Against Corruption in 2003. It is a time for political leaders, governments, institutions, legal bodies, various organizations and advocates to work together against corruption by promoting the day and the issues that surround this event.

Corruption is a worldwide phenomenon and an age-old issue that affects human organizations. It undermines democracy, creates unstable governments, and sets countries back economically. Nowadays, corruption goes beyond the economic concern, it is also a problem involving political and social factors, seriously threatening a nation's stability and development. Therefore, it's a duty for each country, each person to help to eradicate corruption.

As an award-winning unit and "backbone" of RCOCI, UNPAN-AP Editorial Department observes this special day by releasing 100 documents with an aim of raising people's awareness of combating and preventing corruption. The series of documents includes legislations, country profiles, case studies, and analytical reports, show corruption in various forms such as bribery, law-breaking without dealing with the consequences in a fair manner, unfairly amending election processes and results, and covering mistakes or silencing whistleblowers, etc.

Titles of some of the documents are listed below. Click on what you are interested in and your feedback is greatly appreciated at unpan-ap@sass.org.cn.
